Taking the Prudent Course

The strategies you and your financial advisor put in place over the years can make all the difference to your lifestyle. But these plans and preparations will also be a comfort and support to your family should something unexpected happen.

Make it a point to meet soon with your financial advisor and family members to go over your financial situation, and to discuss your desires and plans in the event of an unexpected illness or death.

This brochure can serve as a guide to what you should do to help your financial advisor best serve your family if you’re not around.
Create a Plan  When individuals build a financial plan, it is often with specific goals in mind—such as a comfortable retirement, or paying for college. Insurance may be what we think of, rather than investment planning, when we consider the unexpected—but that may be an incomplete solution.

Creating an effective plan can make all the difference. Your financial advisor can help you build your plan and explain it to your family, covering areas including:

- ASSETS AND LIABILITIES
  - Your overall financial picture

- INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO
  - Financial objective of the plan
  - Growth, income and cash allocations

- RETIRED INCOME NEEDS AND FUNDING SOURCES
  - Monthly income requirements
  - Social Security coverage
  - Pensions or other employer- or union-based sources

- ANNUITY AND LIFE INSURANCE COVERAGE
  - Benefits to your family in the event of a death

- CASH NEEDS
  - Access to ready cash for interim living expenses

- PROVISIONS FOR YOUR OR YOUR SPOUSE’S LONG-TERM HEALTH CARE
  - Living will
  - Health care proxy

- YOUR FINANCIAL ADVISOR CAN ALSO HELP YOU:
  - Provide for long-term care
  - Make estate planning decisions
  - Evaluate benefit elections
Review Your Plan Regularly At least annually, you, your family and your financial advisor should review the completeness and accuracy of the plans you have in place, looking beyond the simple rebalancing of your investment portfolio. Work with your advisor to:

OPTIMIZE YOUR INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO
▷ Make sure your portfolio is up-to-date
▷ Consider any significant life changes, such as:
  – A family member needing long-term care
  – Children graduating from college or buying homes

EVALUATE YOUR BALANCE SHEET
▷ A snapshot of your net worth, assets, and liabilities

REVIEW PROVISIONS OF YOUR WILL

REVIEW YOUR WISHES
▷ Living will
▷ Health care proxy
▷ Organ donation
▷ Funeral pre-arrangements or preferences
▷ Directives for care of minor children or dependents

It’s just as important for your spouse and other close family members to have a good working relationship with your financial advisor as it is for you. Make sure your advisor knows how to get in touch with your family, and that your family knows your financial advisor as well as they know your financial plan.
Get Into the Details Being sure your family is aware of your financial situation and your wishes will help reduce confusion and disagreement if you’re not around. When you bring the family in to meet with your advisor, you will want to cover:

Anticipating the Unexpected: It’s All In the Planning

It’s not easy to plan for the possibility of debilitating illness or death. But by thinking about your desires, making good plans, sharing them with your loved ones, and reviewing and updating them each year, you can take comfort in the fact that your family will be provided for as well as possible. Talk to your financial advisor and set a date for your first family meeting.
